

Michigan Historical Center Web Site Reproduction and Use Information

NOTCE: All Web site pages © copyright 1995, 1996, 1997, 1998, 1999, 2000, 2001, 2002, 2003, 2004. The Michigan Historical Center, Department of History, Arts and Libraries, Lansing, Michigan. All rights reserved.

Our Web site materials may be used by students, teachers and the public for personal and academic (classroom) purposes. Any publication beyond use by a single classroom—electronically or in print—or commercial use of text or images is strictly prohibited. Information regarding use of specific individual pages or images (such as the Civil War flag images in Rally Around the Flags, the auto photos in A Michigan Auto Tour and the photos in "Michigan's Historic Sites Online") on those pages supersedes other notices. Contact webspinners@michigan.gov with any questions about the use of Michigan Historical Center agency information and images.

For permission to use photos from the State Archives of Michigan, contact the Archives.

We provide links to related sites as a courtesy, but we are not responsible for their availability or content. Links to commercial sites or mention of products or trade names implies neither endorsement by the Michigan Historical Center, Michigan Department of History, Arts and Libraries, nor bias against those not mentioned. We link only to external sites with educational or historical information that complements the topics presented on our respective pages. We do not link to pages where the primary purpose is sales or to solicit funds or members.

The Michigan Historical Center section of the Department of History, Arts and Libraries site is always under development as we add new features and additional museum gallery minitours. Visit us often for the best in Michigan history and for information about the work of the Michigan Historical Center.

Send comments and suggestions about the Michigan Historical Center's Web pages to webspinners@michigan.gov.